Dewberry Welcomes Charles L. Goodman as Senior Associate and Senior Project Manager
Fairfax, VA—August 28, 2015

Dewberry, a privately held professional services firm, has hired Charles L. Goodman, AIA, as a senior associate and senior project manager in the firm’s Dallas office. Goodman will support Dewberry’s architecture practice in the municipal, education, and criminal justice markets. He is currently working on design review and quality control for the Tulsa County Jail, and serving as the principal-in-charge for the renovation of the Whitaker Fields sports and recreation area at the University of Texas at Austin.

Prior to joining Dewberry, Goodman was a senior project manager for leading architecture and engineering firms in Dallas and Orlando. He retired from the U.S. Army Reserve as a Lieutenant Colonel with more than 32 years of service and experience as an architect. Goodman is an expert in correctional design and has designed numerous jails, prisons, and correctional healthcare facilities, totaling more than 25,000 beds throughout the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, and the Middle East.

Goodman received his Bachelor of Architecture degree from the University of Minnesota. He is a registered architect in 15 states, a member of the American Institute of Architects, and a Certified Correctional Health Professional.

About Dewberry
Dewberry is a leading, market-facing firm with a proven history of providing professional services to a wide variety of public- and private-sector clients. Recognized for combining unsurpassed commitment to client service with deep subject matter expertise, Dewberry is dedicated to solving clients’ most complex challenges and transforming their communities. Established in 1956, Dewberry is headquartered in Fairfax, Virginia, with more than 40 locations and 2,000+ professionals nationwide. To learn more, visit www.dewberry.com.

###